Kofax Releases New Capture Platform

Imaging Solutions and Services Inc assists clients to achieve business process improvement by implementing and upgrading new Kofax Capture Platform.

Memphis, TN, April 4, 2008 – Imaging Solutions and Services, Inc., nationwide system integrator and outsourcing provider of document imaging business process improvement technologies is pleased to announce the April release of the next generation of Kofax Ascent Capture software.

Kofax, the leading provider of Intelligent Capture & Exchange solutions, has announced the April release of the next generation of Ascent Capture: the rebranded Kofax Capture 8.0. Kofax Capture automates business processes by capturing paper and electronic documents and forms in digital format; transforming content into accurate data; and delivering the resulting information to an organization's business applications and repositories.

Kofax Capture 8.0 supports more reliable deployments at multiple sites and, through disaster recovery, provides 100 percent data retention by enabling documents to automatically be re-routed to other sites in the event that a site is no longer operational. It also offers Simple Network Management Protocol (SNMP) monitoring, which provides real-time access to data for all users from any location, eliminates the need for disparate monitoring tools, and enables users to quickly handle any exceptions while ensuring required information throughput.

Kofax Capture 8.0 is more tightly integrated with IBM DB2 and Oracle databases and supports Microsoft Windows Vista. Customers can use their organization's preferred database and take advantage of security features within the operating system. A User/Group Routing feature enables users to route documents to specific individuals and groups for specialized processing. New security features help users meet corporate compliance requirements and security standards driven by government organizations.

Kofax was recently named to KMWorld Magazine's "100 Companies That Matter In Knowledge Management" for 2008. The list recognizes companies that demonstrate a commitment to innovation in content, knowledge, and document management.

Imaging Solutions and Services, Inc. is a Kofax Certified Solutions Provider. Using a refined application survey and assessment process, Imaging Solutions and Services, Inc. has helped hundreds of clients to develop and implement Kofax implementation and upgrade plans to achieve improved data acquisition accuracy and operational performance.
