Two Document Imaging Leaders Form Partnership to Increase Results for Their Clients

Memphis, TN – July 1, 2008 – Imaging Solutions and Services, Inc. (ISSI) of Memphis, Tennessee, and Image Information, Inc. (III) of Roswell, Georgia, are pleased to announce the formation of a new and exciting partnership. Effective July 1, 2008, ISSI and III formalized their working relationship which brings two industry leaders together for the purpose of expanding the business process improvement (BPI) solutions that each may provide to their clients.

Each organization has a successful track record of helping clients improve how they manage vital information that is trapped on paper records through the diligent application of digital imaging technology. Each organization has offered very similar products and services, but each has excelled and grown in different, yet complimentary areas. The common elements of each business improve the critical mass of resources, which improves the depth of each organization while also offering each the opportunity to leverage the expertise of the other.

ISSI has excelled in delivering Enterprise Content Management (ECM) solutions, Image and Data Acquisition solutions, and Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) solutions. The established best practices and complement of three production operation centers provide III with the opportunity to expand the type and volume of services it may now bring to its clients.

III has excelled in delivering BPI solutions that have leveraged customized integration and support services. The market-leading development and support infrastructure and staff that has been established to build the III business now provide ISSI with the ability to enhance and expand the complexity and scope of the solutions it may now deliver to its clients.

“The ISSI and III partnership brings the strengths of two great companies together for the benefit of the client, this is the vision for the new partnership. Each company is fully committed to delivering the same high-level of service and value that has been provided independently. With the new partnership, the depth of solutions available to all clients has just been expanded. The commitment remains, client-focused, results-driven.”, says Jay Barrow, President & CEO, Imaging Solutions and Services, Inc. and Image Information, Inc.
